“Yes, Lord!”

The two blind men could not see Christ but were told about him. The Lord showed them that faith should not be expected as a result of health, but health should be expected because of faith. The blind men saw because they believed; they did not believe because they saw. From this we understand that what is requested must be predicated on faith and that faith must not be exercised because of what has been obtained. If they should believe, they offer them sight. (St. Hilary)

A Note from Fr. Anthony

Dear parishioners,

We have had much wonderful activity at our parishes, and I will be taking part of our allotted four weeks vacation time. Thank you to all those who are helping keep the parishes running in my absence. I appreciate the willingness of several of you to help with mundane, but necessary tasks, like unlocking the Church and handling AC/lights.

This week, Fr. Ryan Liebhaber will celebrate the Wednesday evening Divine Liturgy at St. Mary's which will be followed by our men's and women's groups as usual.

Chant group practice will be at 3:30pm at St. Mary's on Saturday, July 18th.

Fr. Tom Dansak, a retired military chaplain, will maintain our normal schedule of weekend liturgies on July 18/19.

The Wednesday morning hours the next two weeks at St. George's will be held as reader services.

Our regular liturgical schedule will resume the evening of Wednesday, July 22nd.

Since I will be away for the feast of the prophet Elijah, we will have vehicle blessings at the Divine Liturgies the weekend of July 25/26.

In Christ,
Fr. Anthony

Seventh Sunday after Pentecost

At that time, as Jesus passed on from there, two blind men followed Him, crying aloud, "Have mercy on us, Son of David."

Again and again we hear in the Gospel the story of men or women who were healed of their illnesses, and it seems so simple in the Gospel: there is a need, and God meets it. Why is it then — we ask ourselves — that it does not happen to each of us? Each of us is in need of physical healing and of the healing of our soul. And yet, only a few are healed — why? What we miss in the reading of the Gospel is that Christ did not heal people indiscriminately. One person in a crowd was healed; many, who were also sick in body or soul, were not. That comes from the fact that, in order to receive the grace of God, so that it acts in us unto the healing of soul or body, or both, we must be open to God — not to the healing, but to God.

Illness is something which we so often wish to banish from our experience, not only because it hampers our life, not only because it is accompanied by pain, but also, even more, because it reminds us of our frailty, it speaks to us of our mortality.

What can we do then? We must ask ourselves attentive questions, and when we come to God asking Him to heal us, we must first prepare ourselves to be healed. To be healed means not just to be made whole with a view to going back to the kind of life which we had before, it means being made whole in order to start a new life, as though we had become aware that we had died in the healing act of God, aware that all that was the old man in us, this body of corruption of which St. Paul speaks, must go in order for the new man to live.

Are we capable of receiving healing? Are we willing to take upon ourselves the responsibility of being made new in order to enter, again and again, into the world in which we live, with a message of newness — to be light, to be salt, to be joy, to be hope and faith and love, to be surrendered to God.

Let us reflect on it, because we all are sick in one way or another; we all are frail, all are weak, all are incapable of living to the full, even the life which is offered us on earth. Let us reflect on it, and become capable of opening ourselves to God in such a way that He may work His miracle of healing, make us new — but in order for us to bring our newness, indeed God's newness, into the world in which we live. Amen.
